CATALYTIC PROJECTS AS A KEY TO SUCCESSFUL IMPLEMENTATION OF THE PGDP

There is a very clear and emphatic emphasis on processes and mechanisms to enhance implementation of the PGDP. Whilst recognising the value of a long-term vision and strategy, as well as targets setting a trajectory to 2035, there is an equal recognition of the need for a clear implementation plan with a focus on immediate action and the attainment of short-term gains. One of the processes to be pursued in this regard is to ensure that the PGDS goals, objectives are driven through a range of strategic interventions and Catalytic Projects.

A Catalytic Project is defined as a project of significant scale (i.e. its reach) and scope (i.e. impact on employment, services, economic and social investment, and/or rates), thereby displaying some or all of the following characteristics:

- It makes a substantial impact,
- It provides leverage and/or creates multiplier effects,
- It has the power to radically activate development (social, economic or both),
- It significantly impacts spatial form,
- It creates jobs, and increase land value; and
- contributes to the achievement of the vision and goals of the Province

It is also acknowledged that projects cut across these goals and objectives and seldom only contributes to a single goal or objective. It is for this reason that it is imperative for prioritisation purposes, to give specific preference and attention to projects that impacts on as many as possible of the strategic goals of the Province.

It is further recognised that there are different categories of Catalytic Projects. Some are mostly government projects driven through social need and demand, whilst others are largely private sector driven to capitalise on economic development opportunities. In this context three types of catalytic projects have been identified:

Game Changers

Major enablers

Major Needs (of a high order or significant magnitude)

Game Changers and Major Enablers, are inherently considered catalytic projects because they act to catalyse upstream and downstream economic and social activities. Major Needs/Projects are not necessarily catalytic and must fulfil other objectives to be considered catalytic. This however does not detract from Major Needs projects being significant or needing to be prioritised.

If a project is a Major Need it will additionally need to have a significant impact on one or more of the following:

- Strategic Planning – the projects’ impact the PGDS and its alignment with its Spatial Development framework.
- Spatial form – the impact the project makes on specific land parcels, e.g. whether it contributes to densification, in-fill development or the multi-purpose use of land parcels
- The environment - impact on agriculturally sensitive land, A and B agriculture land or the contribution the project might make to reduce its environmental impact or its contribution to reducing green-house gas emissions.
- Investment into a region – the level of economic and/or social investment in a region. It also refers to the level of investment in services in the region.
- Economy of the region – does the project contribute to the comparative advantage of the region thereby improving opportunities for success.
- Social benefits – is the social investment a game changer for the region or beyond, either through its impact spatially, its ability to significantly contribute to job creation or acts as a major enabler.

A project defined as catalytic still needs to be assessed for its scale, to determine at what level it is catalytic. It could be considered catalytic but impact the local or district level and not necessarily, and not impact the provincial or national level. Figure 14 below provides evidence and examples of projects that are catalytic and what level they are considered catalytic. All projects nominated will be assessed using these guidelines.

The significance of a project being awarded “Catalytic” status is that it will confirm that such a project had been subjected to a screening and prioritisation process of the Provincial Planning Commission and the Infrastructure Coordination Work Group. As such, Catalytic Projects will receive preferential facilitation support and guidance, in recognition of the contribution such a project can make to achieve the growth targets of the Province. These Catalytic Projects therefore form an integral part of the PGDP).

The following steps will be followed in the registration of Catalytic Projects:

1. Project Owner applies for Registration
2. KZN PPC Secretariat receives application
3. KZN PPC Secretariat registers application
4. KZN PPC forwards application to PICWG
5. PICWG processes application through prioritisation model
6. PICWG formulates performance assessment
7. PICWG presents performance outcomes to KZN PPC
8. PICWG presents KZN PPC recommendations to the ESID Cluster / PEC
9. ESID Cluster / PEC endorses Catalytic Project
10. KZN PPC Secretariat updates Catalytic Project list in PGDP
11. KZN PPC Secretariat forwards revised list to PBU / One Stop Shop
12. KZN PPC Secretariat posts revised list on the KZN PPC website and confirms registration with Project Owner

The registration form for the nomination of Catalytic Projects can be downloaded from the KZN Provincial Planning Commission website on www.kznppc.gov.za. There is no closing date for nominations and the assessment of projects will be undertaken as nominations for registration are received. The list of accredited Catalytic Projects, Annexure G, will be updated on a quarterly basis and published on the Provincial Planning Commission website: www.kznppc.gov.za

Progress with the implementation of Catalytic Projects will also be monitored on a quarterly basis and progress or lack thereof will be reported to the Provincial Executive Council via the Economic Sector and Infrastructure Development Cluster.

The attached Annexure G is attached for reference. Please note that it is subject to ongoing revisions informed by new registrations, and or project status updates received.
